Collecting Supplies & Accessories for Stamps, Covers, & Postcards

No. 61

Enjoy and protect your collection
Dear Collector:

Your collection is as individual as you are. Protecting it shouldn't be overwhelming or difficult. Whatever you collect, we can help you find the perfect collecting system for your treasures. We've been doing it for over 60 years; we want to make it easy for you.

We also want you to have fun with your collection. Enjoy more time looking at your stamps, rather than drying them, by using a time-saving Stamp Drying Press on page 19. Did you know that the many stamps and currency have hidden tagging, which is only visible with UV light? You can see it with the UV Light Table on page 22. And, for something really super-fun, try examining your coins, minerals or gems under the Digital Microscope on page 23, which magnifies up to 200x!

If you need help determining the right fit for your collection, please feel free to call or email us. We love to help and want to make sure you have the best system that is customized just for you and your budget.

Happy collecting!

Signoscope - Opti-Electric Watermark Detector

Are your stamps worth more than you think? Is it a Scott No. 439 or No. 476A?

The catalogs can show you the difference, but only the SAFE Signoscope will bring it to light. The difference could mean thousands of dollars. Check your stamps for watermarks simply and precisely -- without taking any chances of damaging your expensive stamps by using watermark fluids.

How does it work? The Signoscope combines two important elements for viewing watermarks, tears and repairs of stamps. First, as a lamp which provides light from the unit. And, secondly, it has a precisely chiseled glass plate to provide pressure and for distortion-free viewing.

Simply place your stamp on the staging plate then slide the handle which will provide just the right amount of pressure to the stamp. You will recognize watermarks, repairs, and irregularities immediately, and in perfect focus. Easy to use ... see results right away.

Discover YOUR treasures. Past methods have never been this sharp and accurate. You will be amazed with the contrasts and details invisible to the naked eye. Take your time studying its fascinating contrasts and many details.

Magnifiers

How to select a magnifier

Selecting the right magnifier depends on several factors including your specific use. There are two main items for you to consider. The first, is light and the second is application to select the correct magnification power. Will you always have adequate light or will there be times you will need more? If you need a constant light source, consider LED since it offers bright light that is long lasting, and it does not overheat. Which magnification power will you need? Are you trying to get a nice broad view of an item (a lower magnification power will give you a bigger lens), or do you need help to read regular or fine text (generally 3x to 5x will work), or do you need to inspect intricate details of an object (use 7x up to 200x)? Answering these questions will help guide you to the right magnification solution. But, if you still are unsure, please call on our experts at 877-395-7233 and they will be happy to help.

Suggested Magnifications Uses

- 3x-5x  Reading, large lens provides huge viewing area
- 5-7x  Viewing postcards, viewing entire coin / stamp
- 7x-12x  Inspecting jewelry, gems, and coin details
- 15x-30x  Viewing small details on coins and stamps
- 100x +  Inspecting even smaller details of almost anything
